Names of all the co-authors who are represented by the author who is the signatory* :

The above author (representative) has guaranteed and promised the following with regard to the manuscript (literary works) entitled as above which was contributed to Geoinformatics, which is a publication of the Japan Society of Geoinformatics.

1. Literary works are original works of the author and have not been previously published or announced and nor are they scheduled to be published or announced.
2. Literary works do not infringe upon the intellectual property rights of any works already published, announced, etc.
3. Permission for use of the charts, which are copied from other works, contained within the literary works has been obtained.
4. In the case where the literary works include citations from other theses, etc., such citations are used in accordance with fair practice and within a justifiable extent for the purpose.
5. The literary works do not include plagiarism of other work, fictitious information or other information which would dishonor the Japan Society of Geoinformatics or damage the reputation of Geoinformatics.
6. In the case where the literary works were produced jointly, the author who is the signatory and the affixer of the seal to this guaranty representing the other authors, has either received consents from all the co-authors or has acquired the rights necessary to sign and to affix the seal to this guaranty.
7. The author shall be responsible for all and any inquiries, complaints, disputes, etc., that may arise with regard to the literary work.

* In the case where the name of an organization is listed among the names of authors, the copyright belongs to that organization and will not be allotted to the other authors. If you wish the copyright to be allocated equally to all of the authors, then the names of all the authors must be listed, in principle. Please note that if a person who is employed by a corporation, etc., are involved in the literary works, the corporation, etc., may become a co-author (Copyright Law, Article 15(1)).

Please make a copy of this form and send the copy to the editorial committee together with the manuscript after writing required details including names of the co-authors. If a signature is not affixed to the guaranty, the manuscript will not be received.

The Japanese language version of this guaranty shall be the original. The attached English language version of the guaranty is an accurate translation of the original. Please send whichever you like.
